President's Plea To Oust "Cotton Ed" Smith From Senate To Be Decided

GOV. JOHNSTON BACKED

McAdoo's Place At Stake In West Coast Election Contest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(UP)—President Roosevelt returned to the capital today to hear returns of the South Carolina and California primaries and to organize a punitive expedition against the renomination candidacy of conservative Sen. Millard E. Tydings, D. Md.

He has summoned South Carolina voters to substitute New Deal Gov. Olin D. Johnston for the veteran Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith in the senate. Mr. Roosevelt favors renomination of Sen. William G. McAdoo, D., Calif., although the New Deal itself is not a fundamental issue there.

Next Sunday the President will invade Maryland in behalf of Rep. David J. Lewis, a New Deal Democrat, who is opposing Tydings for senatorial nomination. He will speak at Denton, Md., Labor Day and, shortly, return to Hyde Park, N. Y.

F. D. "Pulse-Feeling"

Mr. Roosevelt has been "pulse-feeling," or vacationing, most of the time since he left here in early July on a trans-continental journey.

Shortly after he reeled in his line and disembarked from the U. S. S. Houston in Florida three weeks ago, he spoke in Georgia and South Carolina against renomination candidacies of two of the South's elder statesmen, Sen. Walter F. George, and Sen. Smith. Pausing briefly in Washington, Mr. Roosevelt extended his opposition to Rep. John J. O'Connor, D., N. Y., chairman of the house rules committee, and to Tydings, a member of the conservative senate Democratic bloc.

Sufficiently direct appeals now have been made for defeat of the four legislators to make today's

DIES DEMANDS DEPORTATION OF HARRY BRIDGES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(UP)—Chairman Martin Dies, D., Tex., of the house committee investigating un-American activities, demanded today that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins take immediate action to deport Harry Bridges, Pacific coast director of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

In a letter to Miss Perkins, Dies said that the majority of his committee had authorized him to ask such action.

He said department of labor files in the Bridges case disclosed that one witness testified he had heard Bridges say "To hell with the President of the United States."

The hitherto private files in the case were made available to Dies' committee as part of its current investigation.

"Deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges should be commenced without any further delay," Dies wrote, "not only because the statute and decisions require such proceedings, but because delay may, if it has not already done so, place the witnesses beyond the reach of the government and make it impossible to make out a case."

During the labor department's hearings, Dies letter revealed, witnesses testified that Bridges on one occasion said of the United States fleet when it was in San Francisco harbor, "we will see a day when we can sink those damn things because they are the enemy of the workers."

FORT KNOX, Ky., Aug. 30—(UP)—Capt. Arthur L. Limbach of the 162nd field artillery, Ohio National Guard, received a multiple fracture of the arm when he stepped from a moving wagon at Fort Knox and was thrown against a tree last night.

TWO PICKAWAY TEAMS IN CASH AT STATE FAIR

DAY'S CHAMPIONS FIRST

Numerous Other Results Of Competition Disclosed At Exposition

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—(UP)—Teams of two Pickaway countians rated third and fifth in the horse pulling contest at the Ohio State Fair Tuesday.

A team owned by Harley Mace, and one owned by Earl Vincent, both of New Holland, rated third and fifth, respectively.

Queen and Jim, grey Percherons owned by John A. Day of Springport, Ind., won the contest pulling a load of 21 tons for 22 feet. The team did not equal its own record set last year when it pulled the load 27½ feet. The second place went to a team owned by Wheeler Kidd, Martinsburg. Fourth place went to one owned by R. J. Emery, West Alexandria, and sixth, Day and Fletcher, Greenville, O.

Horse-pulling and sheep-shearing contests were features of the fair today, with a crowd of 60,000 predicted by fair officials.

It was county fair managers' day at the big exposition and 1,000 guests were expected by Director of Agriculture Earl H. Hanefeld.

Judging of livestock continued in the coliseum today.

Chester, owned by Floyd S. Clark of Urbana, was named grand champion Belgian stallion, senior champion, and winner in the three-year-old class. He is being shown for the first time this year.

DUFFY TO SEE SPARKS, OUSTED BY GOV. DAVEY

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—(UP)—Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy announced today that he had asked Harry A. Sparks, former highway department engineer, to confer with him Wednesday. Duffy did not disclose the reason for the conference.

Sparks testified before the state senate graft investigating committee last Winter that the state paid exorbitant prices for "hot mix" road materials. Subsequently, his position was abolished by Governor Davey.

Duffy recommended last week that Sparks be reinstated.

The attorney general also said that he has written members of the board of university professors which recently criticized administration of the highway department in a report to the governor, asking them to come to his office to discuss the adverse report.

DISPUTE BETWEEN LUPE AND LIBBY TO CONTINUE

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(UP)—The six month old feud between Lupe Velez and Libby Holman was on in full blast today with the stars of a forthcoming Shubert musical displaying their temperaments all over the rehearsal stage.

So acrimonious did the actresses become late last week that Rowland Leigh, director, was reported to have walked out. Leigh denied, however, that he had left rehearsals and called a session for today.

The dispute goes back to last March when the show, "You'll Never Know," was given an out-of-town tryout. Lupe was reported at that time to have blackened Miss Holman's eye in a fight in Boston. Both principles denied fisticuffs but the reports persisted.

COUNTY TO ASK FEDERAL HELP FOR ROAD WORK

More Than $100,000 To Be Spent In 1939 If Present Plans Are Approved

P. W. A. GRANT SOUGHT

Commissioners Put Stamp On Engineer's Program; Highways Listed

A project for the surface treatment of approximately 70 miles of Pickaway county roads in 1939 under P. W. A. has been prepared by the county engineer's department and will be submitted to the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works for approval.

Estimated cost of the work is $100,700 on which a federal grant of 45 percent will be asked. The project is the first road program prepared under P. W. A. in the county.

Surfacing of 51.7 miles of gravel roads and re-treatment of 18.4 miles of surfaced roads are included in the program.

Application Authorized

County commissioners, at their meeting Monday, authorized the county engineer to file an application with P. W. A. for a grant and to submit the necessary plans and specifications.

Roads included in the improvement program are: Hayesville-Adelphi road from the Kingston pike to Laurelville, 10 miles; Circleville-Tarlton road, 3.2 miles; Tarlton-Adelphi road, 1.75 miles; Walnut Creek pike from the Ashville-Walnut road to the Franklin county line, 7.2 miles; Goosepond pike from the Jackson pike to Commercial Point, 8 miles; Florence Chapel road from the Goosepond pike to one and a half miles west of Fox, 3.7 miles; Circleville-London-Northern road from Route 56 to Darbyville and from Derby to the Madison and Franklin county line, 10 miles; Palestine-Williamsport road from Five Points to Era, 6.2 miles; Clarks Run road from the Yankeetown road to the Mt. Sterling-Five Points road, 4.4 miles; Yankeetown road from the Williamsport-Chillicothe-Northern road to Fayette county line, 8.1 miles, and Egypt road from New Holland to the Ross county line, 2.1 miles.

GERMAN PAPERS CONTINUE 'WAR' AGAINST CZECHS

BERLIN, Aug. 3—(UP)—The German press, following up new government protests against Czech "insults," asserted today that Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia are the victims of "blood terrorism."

Charging that a centrally-directed campaign of terrorism and atrocities is being directed at the Sudetens, German dispatches from Prague appealed to the world to call a "final halt" to "Czech madness."

The outburst in the press followed recent appeals by Great Britain to end such attacks on the Czechs in order to facilitate negotiations for solution of the minority problem. It also coincided with new protests by the foreign office against Czech newspapers that have commented critically on the German army.

ELMER WOLF AT FAIR; OTHER DIRECTORS HOME

Elmer E. Wolf, director in charge of the horse show of the annual Pumpkin Show, was the only director who attended the Ohio State Fair Tuesday in connection with fair directors' day. Mr. Wolfe has four horses, two Belgians and two Percherons, entered in the fair horse show this year.

PICTURED in hospital in Reno, Nev., is Edward Collins, 27, ex-convict who wanted to go straight. Two ex-pals tried to lure him back into stealing and when he refused, nailed him to a crude wooden cross, left him to die in screaming agony. Nails were driven through his insteps and palms of his hands.

DeSeversky Breaks All Cross Country Records

BURBANK, Calif., Aug. 30—(UP)—Major Alexander P. De Seversky, crippled Russian-born airplane designer, held a new East-West record today, the second transcontinental mark to be set in 10 days.

De Seversky not only lowered the former East-West record of Col. Roscoe Turner by one hour and 27 minutes, but he esclipsed the mark set by Howard Hughes on a West-East flight on Aug. 20. Hughes negotiated the distance from Los Angeles to New York in 10 hours and 32 minutes. De Seversky accomplished his crossing in 10 hours and three minutes, despite a 31 minute stopover in Kansas City for refueling.

The Plane, designed and manufactured by De Seversky is a low-wing single motored pursuit plane, which he delivered to Jacqueline Cochran, Californian aviatrix who will fly the ship in the Bendix air derby to Cleveland next Saturday.

Averages 262 Miles

De Seversky averaged 262 miles per hour in traveling the 2,593 miles between the two airports. Hughes, who made his West-East crossing over a shorter route, averaged 229 miles per hour for 2,478 miles. Hughes made his flight on a non-stop basis.

Both fliers used the sub-stratosphere flying region where wind resistance is lessened and where greater speed can be attained because of the rarity of the air. De Seversky said, however, that at certain stages of his flight he varied his height in order to give the new plane a test at various flying levels. The range was between 11,000 and 16,000 feet. At the higher levels he used oxygen equipment.

"The ship behaved nicely," he said. "The slowest speed that I made was 270 miles an hour. For a long stretch I went over 300. All in all it was a very uneventful trip."

De Seversky said that in the event of another war, such a type of military pursuit plane could be used to excellent advantage because of its speed and long flying range.

YOUTHS CAUGHT AT FAIRGROUND, RETURN TO B. I. S.

Carl Hott, 15, of Jackson township, and Walter Reeder, 16, of West Lafayette, who walked away from the Boys' Industrial school, near Lancaster, Sunday afternoon, were recaptured at the state fairgrounds in Columbus and returned to the institution Monday.

A car stolen by the youths from Glendon Bright, of Logan, Sunday night, was recovered Monday near the Norfolk & Western coal tipple, south of Circleville, where it had been abandoned. The youths rode to Columbus on a freight train after leaving the car.

Hott was sent to the institution on July 29 for violation of terms of a probation granted him by Judge C. C. Young last February. The youth was placed on probation after he took the car of Marvin Rhoades, Jackson township.

Show Quits Comic, Old Car Events

Too Few Entries Result In Change In October's Pumpkin Celebration

Two parades, Comic and Characterization and Old Vehicle, have been removed from the Pumpkin Show program this year under the schedule sent to George E. Roth, show secretary, by Clayton Chalfin, director in charge of the parades.

The Comic and Characterization parade was a Friday night feature. The Old Vehicle parade was held on Saturday night. Elimination of the two parades was caused by the low entry lists in recent years combined with the fact a parade on Saturday night was difficult to handle due to the tremendous crowds.

Robert Adkins, deputy sheriff, and court bailiff, has been appointed chairman of the Miss Pumpkin Show parade for this year. Mr. Chalfin was the former chairman of this parade. Carl Hunter, Reed Shafer and Paul Johnson are in charge of the Industrial parade. Mr. Hunter is chairman. The American Legion Drum Corps contest is under the direction of E. C. Ebert, chairman, and Mack Parrett. Mrs. Katherine Baughman, chairman, and Mrs. James Brown are in charge of the Baby parade. Frances McGinnis is chairman of the Pet parade.

To date, 88 concession spaces have been sold. The Pumpkin Show will be held Oct. 19-22.

HEALTHER CITES RABIES DANGERS IN NEW HOLLAND

Warning to New Holland residents of the seriousness of the rabies situation in that community was issued Tuesday by Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner.

Dr. Blackburn went to New Holland, Monday, to conduct an investigation following a report that a dog, believed rabid, had been taken alive to Ohio State university for observation.

"The mad dog scare in New Holland is really more than a scare, it is in fact a serious matter," Dr. Blackburn explained.

"Some weeks ago a rabid dog invaded the town and after biting numerous dogs was killed by Nick Roberts, traffic officer. It seems that the owners of some of the bitten dogs have permitted their

Combined Anglo-French Show Of Strength May Be Used As Warning

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30— — (UP) — Secretary of State Cordell Hull was one of the President's first callers after Mr. Roosevelt's return to the capital today. Presumably they discussed the crisis in European affairs.

Prior to going to the White House, Hull conferred with his advisers on European affairs to obtain last minute information concerning the critical situation.

He then left for the White House to lay the entire picture before President Roosevelt.

PARIS, Aug. 30—(UP)—The French cabinet decided today on an effort to line up the Democratic powers of Europe in a determined front to warn Germany that invasion of Czechoslovakia would mean general war.

The cabinet, after a four-hour meeting, issued a cautious communique which said it had unanimously approved Foreign Minister George Bonnet's "precise definition of French foreign policy and his instrction to French ambassadors."

Informed sources believed the instructions to French envoys involved two actions.

The first would be to inform all friendly governments, especially Poland, Roumania and Jugoslavia, whose attitude is wavering, that France intends to comply with her obligations to Czechoslovakia, although doing her utmost to bring about a peaceful solution.

All May State Stand

Secondly, the government involved would be asked to define their own positions clearly in case of a German attack.

G. O. P. MAY RUN THOMAS DEWEY FOR GOVERNOR

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(UP)—Republicans were reported today to have agreed on District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey as the party's candidate for governor.

The slate will be picked at the state convention in Saratoga Sept. 28. Dewey probably still will be involved in his prosecution of James J. Hines, Tammany leader, on charges of having conspired in the Dutch Schultz lottery racket.

Should Hines be acquitted, Dewey's racket-busting reputation would receive a severe set-back. But should he convict Hines, his prestige would be nation-wide, and strong enough, Republican leaders hoped, to carry the entire state Republican ticket to victory in November.

Rep. Bruce Barton was understood to be the Republicans' choice for the regular United States senate term, and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman for the unexpired term of the late Sen. Royal S. Copeland. Gov. Lehman is a Democrat but Republicans were said to consider him only a lukewarm New Dealer who would be acceptable to them.

It was assumed that Dewey would accept the nomination.

TISDALE DENIES CHARGE OF CHICKEN STEALING

Hobart Tisdale, 27, of Laurelville Route 3, was bound to the grand jury under $2,000 bond Tuesday by B. T. Hedges, justice of peace, when he denied a charge of burglary and larceny involving the theft of 57 chickens from Mrs. Mary E. Seymour, Saltcreek township, Aug. 20. Tisdale was unable to furnish bond.

Japanese Scheme to Kill Chiang With Bombs Fail

SHANGHAI, Aug. 30—(UP)—Japanese military forces, apparently hoping to kill Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, bombarded Hankow defense centers from the air today, but met with unexpected Chinese aerial opposition.

The Japanese put their full power into an offensive which they said was threatening to break the defense of Hankow. Their air forces opened up on Chinese centers in Kwangtung province to the South and at Kingshan, 78 miles North of Hankow, where they had been informed Chiang was attending a military conference.

Fifty planes devastated the town, killing probably 1,000 civilians, but it was not known whether the Chinese generalissimo was endangered or injured.

12 Raiders Surprised

To the South, a Japanese raiding squad of 12 planes was surprised by 19 Chinese craft near Namhung, where Chinese reported a furious air battle ending with the crash of eight Japanese planes.

Later another squadron of 30 Japanese planes bombed the Canton-Hankow railroad station at Shiukwan, resulting in heavy casualties.

Appearance of Chinese defense planes in the South cheered Canton officials and strengthened reports that the Chinese air force had been bolstered by new craft from Russia. Usually well-informed sources said the Hankow government had about 500 planes in action.

On land, Japanese troops advanced 20 miles beyond Hwoshan and Anhwei, Chinese points occupied yesterday. Severe fighting was reported from the sector Northwest of Jiuchang.

Japanese reports said their troops marched victoriously into Hwoshan and that 500 Chinese corpses were in the streets as the Japanese commander formally led his forces in drinking the toast of sake and shouting "Banzai" as they faced toward the emperor at Tokyo.

The government charged that two Chinese companies had been wiped out by poison gas southwest of Laohushan, in the Kuling sector of the Yangtse valley about 140 miles South of Hankow.

The Japanese planes dropped more than 200 bombs on Kingshan, according to the announcement. Most of them were incendiary, starting huge fires.

It was the first time in recent weeks that Japanese planes had bombed an area outside the regular lines of communication with Hankow. Most of the bombings have been against the railroad which runs from Hankow to Canton and Hong Kong, over which the Chinese armies receive supplies.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

YOU HAVE TO HURRY

ADOPTING a slow-acting kind of tactics is bad defense if the dummy contains a set-up suit. There is grave danger then that the declarer will discard his losers in other suits before you can cash your winners. So, if you have any quick ones, bring them in right away. If you haven't, try to set one up quickly if you possess a sure entry in the trump suit.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

The bidding on this deal began by South calling 1-Spade. West overcalled with 2-Diamonds, North 3-Clubs, East 3-Diamonds, South 4-Clubs and North 5-Clubs.

The deal came up in a duplicate and where the defense faltered the game was made.

At one table with the diamond 2 led by East, West took with the J, and realizing from the deuce lead that North held no more, he discontinued that suit. The trump A was bound to be won, but another trick was necessary to defeat North. The set-up spades in dummy looked dangerous, in view of North's refusal of that suit. West's aim was to pave the way for that other trick before his high trump was drawn. On this reasoning, he switched to a heart with a prayer that East could force the A. East's Q did just that, so that when trumps were tried the A won and the heart K followed, killing the declarer's chances of game.

SOUTH CAROLINA AND CALIFORNIA VOTING TUESDAY

South Carolina primary legitimately the second of a series of direct tests of New Deal strength. The first took place in Kentucky where Mr. Roosevelt campaigned for Sen. Alben W. Barkley, Senate Democratic leader. Barkley was renominated with votes to spare over Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

But there was no New Deal-Conservative issue in Kentucky. Neither was Mr. Roosevelt attempting to oust a sitting member of Congress. In South Carolina today, in Maryland, Sept. 12, in Georgia, Sept. 14, and in New York, Sept. 20, however, Mr. Roosevelt is attempting to oust legislators who voted against New Deal legislation.

Neither discounting Barkley's triumph, nor less vital New Deal achievements in Oklahoma, Florida, Ohio and Oregon, the trend of political developments in some states demonstrates that there are areas where Mr. Roosevelt's party influence is not always controlling. The administration got off to a good start in Florida May 3 when Sen. Claude Pepper, a loyal Rooseveltian, was renominated over anti-New Deal opposition. Sen. Lister Hill, D., Ala., New Deal victor in a 1938 unexpired-term contest also was renominated that day for a regular term.

Gillette Successful

But on June 6, Sen Guy M. Gillette,, D., Ia., was given renomination over a New Deal opponent whose support came from so close to the executive offices here in Washington that it scarcely could have been tendered without Mr. Roosevelt's knowledge and approval. Then Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind., whose political extinction had been undertaken by the Indiana state machine, was unexpectedly given renomination by the state convention. Van Nuys was a leader of the opposition to Mr. Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization bill.

pets to run at large since the time they were exposed.

"Several persons were snapped at by the dog now under observation, although an investigation has revealed that no abrasion was made in any case. Several of the persons who were eposed will take the anti-rabic treatment as a precautionary measure.

"It seems that some of the New Holland people do not realize the seriousness of the situation and are allowing dogs to run at large that should be closely confined. Some are losing sight of the fact there is a county-wide quarantine on dogs and that the owners are liable to a heavy fine for allowing dogs to run at large if they have not been immunized. The ordinance of the board of health provided that all dogs not treated must be tied up or penned up.

"This does not mean that these dogs are permitted to run in the dooryard or in the streets. It is possible that people will not wake up to their responsibility until there is a human death of rabies?"

A story containing all the charm and drama of another "Seventh Heaven" will open Wednesday at the Cliftona Theatre in "Stolen Heaven," Paramount's new musical drama co-starring Olympe Bradna and Gene Raymond.

Olympe, a vivacious and charming French lass who deserves all the praise now being showered upon her, is seen as a lovable jewel thief, while Gene Raymond portrays her partner in crime and romance. Prominent in the supporting cast are Lewis Stone, Glenda Farrell and Porter Hall.

The story deals with a pair of young lovers, played by Olympe and Raymond, who try to live down their dangerous past in a forest hideaway with a great musician whom the world has long forgot. This man, played by Stone, has so strong an influence on them that they give up their plans to escape the country and devote themselves to preparing for the old man's "comeback."

On the eve of the festival, however, their past catches up with them in the form of Miss Farrell and Hall, their former confederates, who arrive at the hideaway and plead with them to flee. All their normal instinct for self-preservation tells them to flee with their ex-confederates, but their suddenly realized devotion to Stone makes them stay and "face the music."

AT THE GRAND

Will Rogers is happily seen as the small-town political firebrand of George Ade's uproarious classic of American humor, "The County Chairman," which opens Thursday at the Grand Theatre.

Warm in friendship, but too hot to handle in a fight, yet willing to surrender victory when it threatens to wreck young love, "The County Chairman" is the perfect vehicle for America's beloved humorist, rivaling his endearing performances in such characteristic roles as "David Harum" and "Judge Priest."

The other half of the double feature program is "Sinners in Paradise."

AT THE CIRCLE

A goldless gold mine; a male swindler and a female gyp artist trying to outphenagle each other; a pretty girl and a G-man furnish the laughs and romance in "Blossoms on Broadway," the new comedy with music showing tonight only at the Circle Theatre. The laughs come thick and fast with Edward Arnold, Shirley Ross, John Trent, William Frawley, Weber and Fields, Rufe Davis and Kitty Kelley handling the fun.

cated that Germany cannot count on Italy's active support in case of war. Italy was understood to have warned Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader in Czechoslovakia, that Italy would not fight the western powers to back his claims.

The French cabinet's announcement that it had agreed on a line of action had been worked out in detail to take care of anything that might possibly happen.

The cabinet was reported to have considered the possibility of a display of strength by the British and French armed forces as a warning to Germany.

PECORA BLOCKS DEWEY IN PLEA FOR TESTIMONY

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(UP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey battled today to introduce testimony by a policeman who allegedly was demoted after he had participated in raids against the lottery racket that James J. Hines is accused of protecting.

Dewey's initial efforts to strengthen his case against the Tammany leader with this testimony were over-ruled by Justice Ferdinand Pecora after an hour and a quarter's argument. It was indicated, however, that the policeman, Patrolman Raymond R. Stilley, would be permitted to testify later.

Stilley was called by Dewey to support part of the story told last week by one of his star witnesses, George Weinberg, business manager for the lottery racket dominated by gangster Dutch Schultz.

Weinberg testified last week that raids in 1932 by Stilley and four other members of the chief inspector's squad cost the gang $100,000.

FLOOD WATERS FATAL TO 10 IN MEXICAN REGION

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 30—(UP)—Flood waters which moved in after a Gulf of Mexico hurricane brought death to 10 persons in Monterrey, Mex., reports from that city said today.

The Santa Catarina river was at its highest point in 50 years and the streets of Monterrey were filled with water.

Seven of the 10 persons were said to have drowned when two automobiles were swept into the stream a short distance out of Monterrey.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(UP)—The stock market regained one quarter of yesterday's losses in the morning dealings today. Trading lightened.

REDS HOPEFUL AS BROOKLYN INVADES PARK

CINCINNATI, Aug. 30—(UP)—Hope springs eternal in the breast of baseball fans and rabid followers of the Cincinnati Reds hoped today their favorites would soon be back in the thick of the Natinal League pennant battle.

The Reds, behind the hurling of Bucky Walters, defeated the New York Giants, 6 to 3, yesterday in the visitors final appearance of the season at Crosley field. The victory broke a five-game losing streak for the McKechnie men.

And it was the explosive manner in which the Reds turned their luck that gave heart to the fans. The hometown club trailed the Giants 1 to 3 going into the "lucky seventh" after Walters, an in-and-outer most of the season, had settled down from a shaky beginning.

Then came the explosion against Giant Pitchers Harry Gumbert and Walter Brown. Lonnie Frey singled, Walter Berger batted for Lang and singled and Walters reached first on an error, Frey scoring. Myers and Cooke followed with singles after which Ival Goodman boomed a double over shortstop. McCormiok drove in the final run with a long outfield fly.

The Brooklyn Dodgers over whom the Reds hold a slim edge of nine victories to eight losses for the season come to Crosley field for two games today. Paul Derringer, ace of the Reds' pitching staff, and Whitey Moore were scheduled to hurl against Van Mungo and Fred Frankhouse for the Dodgers.

VALLEE HOUR STAR-PACKED

A star-packed hour with William A. Brady and his wife Grace George, theatrical producer and actress respectively; Walter O'Keefe, comedian; Bill Robinson, tap dancer extraordinary; Teddy Hart and Lew Parker, comedy team; and Elizabeth Hawes, famous dress designer is the Rudy Vallee Variety Hour, Thursday.

William A. Brady, Sr., dean of the American stage and a leader in acting before he became a foremost producer of plays, married Grace George after managing her business affairs but has acted with her only once before. They will do Edwin Marshall's one-act play, "A Penny A Loaf."

Kept off the air too long by a musical comedy he's written, Walter O'Keefe brings his unique brand of comedy to radio once more. A veteran performer, he's made frequent appearances with Rudy in the past.

FOUR ENTERPRISING BOYS TO OPERATE NEWSPAPER

The Circleville Herald editorial and advertising staffs were bucking stiff competition Tuesday from promoters of The Daily War Drum, to be publised "one of these days soon."

Publishers of the War Drum are Bill, 9, and James Sensenbrenner, 12, 313 E. Mound street; James Rush, 9, 225 Watt street, and Ned Schreiner, 10, 220 E. Franklin street.

The entire force was selling advertising Monday afternoon. They explained to A. C. Cook, an advertiser, that he could have "any size ad he wanted for one cent, pay in advance or after the first edition goes to press."

"We're going to have four pages," James Sensennbrenner explained.

The press will be a Buck Rodgers printing outfit. The boys explained that there are a few details to be worked out but they hope to have the first edition out soon.

ever. David Sutton, state director of school finance, said the authorization for further note issuance left the current deficit for the foundation program at $16,346,281.10 and again warned that legislative action to cure the financial distress of the system must be taken by October.

He anticipated that the net deficit at the November settlement date might be $1,000,000 or so less than currently, but said the net deficit at the end of the year would amount to at least $12,000,000.

Dr. Sutton said that unless the legislature reenacts the cigarette and liquid fuel taxes in a Fall session the department might refuse to authorize further note issuance. Even should the authority be given he said that some banks might refuse to accept the notes without more adequate security.

Allocations today included:

Cities—Circleville, $13,311.

Counties—Pickaway, $46,720.

JURORS DECIDE DEERCREEK MAN DRIVING DRUNK

After deliberation of 25 minutes, a verdict of guilty was returned, Monday by a Common Pleas court jury in the trial of Ross Straley, of near Williamsport, charged with driving an auto when intoxicated.

Only six witnesses were called in the trial. Those for the state were Sergeant D. D. Stark and Corporal H. W. Anderson, of the State Highway Patrol, and Sheriff Charles Radcliff. Mr. Straley took the stand in his own behalf. Other witnesses for the defendant were Ballard O'Connor, Williamsport, and Frank Smallwood, Circleville.

Motion for a new trial was filed Monday after the verdict was returned. Clifton Dresbach, Harrison township, was foreman.

Trial of James Davis, Orient, charged with breaking and entering the Orient Grain Co. elevator, is scheduled for Wednesday.

THREE AUTOISTS FINED ON DRUNK DRIVING COUNTS

Two men and a woman were fined $100 and costs each Monday by Mayor W. B. Cady on charges of driving when intoxicated. All arranged to pay their accounts.

Those fined were Alma Thompson, 43, of 619 Broadway street, Washington C. H., arrested in New Holland; Omer Lemmings, 54, Williamsport, arrested at Routes 22 and 104, and John Sulser, 52, of 926 Pennsylvania avenue, Columbus, arrested by a state patrolman near Little Walnut creek bridge.

All the papers nowadays are full of pro and con arguments about the government interfering with business. Personally, I think half the pleasure we get out of life is making plans and when other people interfere either for good or bad, they're bound to throw us off schedule.

I knew a fella who was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years. At the end of two years, the warden called him in and said, "You've been a good prisoner and I've talked the prison board into givin you a pardon." The prisoner turned pale and says, "You can't do this to me! When I was sentenced here, I gave a fella a three-year lease on my house!"

Ashville-Harrison Boards Prepare to Open School

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

A joint meeting of Ashville-Harrison and the Ashville board of education was held at the local school building yesterday evening and arrangements have been completed for the opening of school next Tuesday morning, the 6th of September, a forenoon session only. There will be no session on Monday—Labor Day. At this meeting Miss Geraldine Conrad of Weston, W. Va., a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College at Buchanan, W. Va., was employed as a teacher of Home Economics and Physical Education. On Saturday, September 17, a meeting of the county teachers will be held the first of the school year, at the Ashville school building.

Lawrence Fullen and his family have their household goods moved from Darbyville to Ashville being located on Station street. If the family is not here today they will be very soon, Mr. Fullen being one of the teachers in the local school, having the sixth grade.

Contacted yesterday, John Garman and gave him a part of "the third" and he proved to be one of those good ones who hasn't got the idea yet, that he is about all there is to it. Said that he and his wife and his neighbor, Will Hall and his wife concluded they would just take a little auto ride to see some of the other people, what they were doing and what kind of surroundings they had. So they came south from Fulton county, their home, (uppermost tier of counties in state) through Ohio and into Kentucky and down deep into the circle making the Carolinas and on North through the states and back into Ohio and here they are to be over night and to the State Fair Tuesday. Told us that their home county of Fulton is almost wholly agriculture, but that the crop growing season with them is about 10 days later than in Pickaway. Morenci, Mich., is their postoffice address and home town.

Ned Dreisbach, deputy sealer of weights and measures and working out of the county auditors office, is checking up on scales and gas pumps here this week. We are guessing Ned is a mighty fine youngster and does his work well. There is, though, one very bad habit he has, but we are doing our best to get him across and vote the Democratic ticket. He hasn't promised yet but think he will.

The eleventh annual reunion of the descendants of Henry Nothstine was held at the Madison township school on Sunday, Aug. 27.

After dinner the business meeting was held and the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Leona Berger, Ashville; vice president, Mrs. Dema Winters, Groveport, O. and Mrs. Christine Marion, secretary-treasurer.

The following people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Swoyer Sunday evening of Marcy, O. honoring, Mrs. Hattie Russel and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Seibers daughter Charlotte of Chicago, Ill.

Through one of our businessmen who was in Columbus yesterday, we learned that Paul Riegel, a son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Riegel, formerly of Ashville, is a clerk at the Neal House in that city. Paul was a school boy here and will be remembered by many.

Talked to several farmers yesterday about when corn cutting would get under way generally. They told us that some very few are beginning, picking out here and there, just the ripe spots and then mostly half-shocking. Many will be at it next week in the early planted corn, they said. Roger Hedges told us that he had about the same acreage of several varieties of his purebred hybrid, but it was not ready to place into shock for curing yet. Said that he felt sure he had several acres of corn that would average at least 100 bushels the acre. Said each year farmers are planting more hybrid corn and he thinks there is no doubt but that this comparatively new variety has come to stay, so many good points being in its favor.

FATHER OF MRS. RODGERS MEMBER OF OLD FAMILY

Tom T. Junk of near Washington C. H., father of Mrs. A. H. Rodgers, N. Court street, is one of six survivors of one of the oldest families in southcentral Ohio. All the survivors range in age from 75 to 89 years. The Junks, although residents of Fayette and Ross counties, are widely known in Pickaway county, especially in the New Holland and Atlanta communities.

The family originally consisted of nine sons and daughters but three have died. The last member to die was M. L. Junk of near Austin.

Tom T. Junk is 87. Mrs. Mariah Cline of Frankfort is in her 89th year. Charles Junk, 81, resides in Frankfort. Misses Mary and Martha Junk, twins, of Frankfort, are about 77 years old. Albert Junk, of Austin, is 75, the youngest of the family.

Milton died in the Civil War and another member, Miss Susan Junk, died in 1870.

WALKER PLEADS SELF DEFENSE IN TURNER CASE

Ira Walker, 54, Chillicothe Negro barber, denied a charge of killing Fred Turner, 39, of Chillicothe, a former Circleville resident, when arraigned before Squire Sam G. Briggs in Chillicothe, Monday.

Louis M. Day, attorney for Walker, contended the barber shot Turner in self-defense and reasoned that a first degree murder charge was not warranted. Day objected to testimony of Sheriff Joseph Vincent and his deputy, Don F. Lowery, when these officers were called by Prosecutor Lester S. Reid for questioning on a statement of admission of guilt allegedly made by Walker after his arrest.

"They say Walker said he shot Turner twice," Mr. Day said. "We'll admit that. But Walker also said that Turner had a rock in his hand and was going to hit him with it, which makes this a clear case of self-defense. Both these witnesses have testified that Walker said Turner had a rock; thus, this man should be bound over on a lesser charge."

The prosecutor contended that the fact a man has a rock in his hand doesn't entitle another man to shoot and kill. "The law recognizes the right to repel force with force," he said. "It does not recognize the right to exert much greater force without due provocation."

Walker was ordered held to the grand jury without bond. Turner lived in Circleville from 1915 to 1920 and was employed at the Container Corporation plant.

Farmers Urged To Treat Seed

Ohio farmers can raise better quality wheat and produce more bushels to the acre if they treat their seed to prevent losses from stinking smut, according to A. L. Pierstoriff, plant pathologist, Ohio State university.

Mr. Pierstorff says the treatment is quite simple and inexpensive. The seed wheat first should be cleaned thoroughly to remove smut, chaff, smut balls, and shriveled kernels. The cleaned wheat is then treated with new improved Ceresan.

One-half ounce of the chemical will treat one bushel of seed. The wheat should be placed in some kind of a container that can be revolved so the Ceresan will coat all the kernels of grain. Usually 40 revolutions of a drum turned at the rate of 30 revolutions to the minute will insure this coverage.

Mr. Pierstorff advises that the treated grain be sacked and permitted to stand at least 24 hours before it is sowed. Longer periods of standing do not injure the germination of the grain.

Ceresan is a poison and persons treating wheat should work outdoors or in a well ventilated building and a cloth should be worn over the nose and mouth. The chemical and any treated grain should be kept out of reach of children or animals.

Farmers who do not want to treat seed wheat thmselves are advised by Mr. Pierstorff to find if their local elevator will do the work. Stinking smut reduced the Ohio wheat crop an average of more than 500,000 bushels a year.

SERIOUS WAR GAMES

THE intensity of those German "war games" and present preparations for them are as alarming as anything in current life today.

It is not merely that Germany is putting on a big military show, or holding a big rehearsal, according to the way you happen to look at it. Other powers do such things. But to man and equip this martial outing, not only has the Nazi government got the whole industrial plant of the Fatherland working full blast. It has imported hundreds of thousands of workmen from Italy and other friendly states to replace mobilized Germans. And it has taken hundreds of thousands of German workers and small business and professional men from their occupations and set them to building barracks and other facilities for the great occasion.

In such extreme measures it may be that the German autocrats are overreaching themselves. From news leaking out of the country, it appears that now, for the first time since Hitler seized supreme power, there is grumbling. And it is mainly the civilians, thus pressed into service they dislike and do not understand, who are doing the grumbling.

Is there to be always strained labor and supreme effort for them all, with slight recompense in living, until some great "Tag" when Nazism rises supreme in Europe or blows up? Many must be asking that question now, while in the words of Walter Lippman:

"The Germans are fully employed. But like the drudges who built the pyramids in Egypt, they work but do not enrich the people. They support a gigantic army and a gigantic government, which together makes ever-increasing levies upon the real income of the nation."

How long can this last?

VEGETABLE ICE CREAM

THERE is a good deal of doubt as to whether Philip Wenger, ice cream specialist of Irvington, N. J., can get away with it. Wenger is attempting something almost as daring as trying to make castor oil a popular beverage. He is putting "tomato sherbert" on the market and proposes to follow with lima beans, green peas and spinach, and heaven knows what else, in ice cream form.

It might be assumed, offhand, that this rash innovator will have a universal rebellion on his hands and a large deficit in his budget. But you never can tell. Persistence often warps human nature. It is said that you can find many children today who really like their spinach — they have always had it, and it has never occurred to them that they shouldn't like it.

Maybe large numbers of them could be encouraged to consume these new dishes by propaganda warning kids against them. They may even welcome what seems to many grown-ups the ultimate horror in frozen confections—green pea ice cream.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

BERLE ENTERED WITH FANFARE

WASHINGTON—Adolf Berle, Assistant Secretary of State, is one of the few newcomers in the State Department able to out-hat the high-hat boys. But now, finding his victory an empty one, he is resigning.

Berle, an original member of the President's Brain Trust, came in with a blare of trumpets. Big things were expected of him. Among others a house-cleaning of the State Department's legal staff.

But nothing happened. Berle did some important behind-the-scenes work on the railroads, dabbled at several diplomatic situations, and then departed. He remained only about six months.

Official explanation for his departure is that he never expected to remain in the State Department more than a short time.

This is unfortunate, because Berle is one of the brainiest young New Dealers ever to come to Washington. He not only knows that he is brainy, but wants everyone else to know it. In the State Department he should have had a perfect setting.

But perhaps he was too high-hat even for the career boys. At any rate, they are now looking around for a good Assistant Secretary of State.

AUTO WORKERS

Young Homer Martin, bespectacled president of the United Automobile Workers, kicked over far more important applecarts than unity within his union when he broke up two days of peace negotiations by walking out on CIO chief John L. Lewis.

The problem of restoring harmony within the UAW is only a surface issue. Behind the scenes there is a great deal more at stake. Involved in the controversy are three far-reaching political and labor prizes:

1. The governorship of Michigan.
2. Control of the UAW, the second largest and potentially the most powerful union in the C. I. O.
3. The internal stability of the C. I. O.

Governor Frank Murphy, intimate friend and devoted supporter of President Roosevelt, faces a desperate re-election fight. The backbone of his strength is labor. In Michigan that means auto-workers—the UAW. A knock-down-and-drag-out struggle for control within the union during the next two months would be a death blow to Murphy.

It might also prove disastrous to the union. For if Murphy were supplanted in the governorship by a conservative Republican, there would be a statewide drive to smash the union—regardless of whether Martin or Lewis emerged victor from the fight to rule it.

Both Lewis and Martin are fully aware of this danger. So are Murphy and the White House. In fact, Roosevelt personally may take a hand in the situation by summoning Murphy, Martin and Lewis for a private discussion.

AFRAID TO MARRY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

Written for and Released by CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

"That Rogers dame is a looker."

READ THIS FIRST:

Judy Rogers, New York heiress, is stunned when Craig Denby, the man she loves, tells her on the phone that he has married a girl he met at a week-end house party. Afraid of marriage, Judy reflects she put Craig off once too many times. Then she phones her father's lawyers to learn the details of his financial crash, just announced in the newspapers, and talks with Ronald Birrell, a brilliant young attorney from Tennessee who has just joined the firm. Ronald both angers and fascinates Judy, doubting that she has the stamina to remain in New York and make her own way designing dresses which she says she likes to do.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 3

AT RONALD BIRRELL'S remark that she did not have enough stamina to fight her way in New York, Judy's anger mounted. After all, this red-headed young man with the clear blue eyes and funny grin had no right to dictate to her.

She spoke swiftly: "I think you are the most impudent, brazen, unmannerly man I've ever met. I'll do what I choose to do. Mr. Heaton doesn't ask you to dictate to his clients as to how they shall live. Anyway, what business is it of yours what I do? If you want the truth, I loathe the social racket. But I'm sticking with it!"

Then she walked out of the restaurant, down the street. For a second or two she thought he might follow her. She almost wanted him to. But he didn't. She glanced over her shoulder a time or two but there was no hurrying figure, with a red head, coming to overtake her.

She walked—miles, it seemed. Her anger faded. The day grew warmer. She took off her hat and let the breeze stir her curls. She did not realize how far she had come until she saw the blue waters of the Battery in the distance.

Ships were setting out to sea. Craig would be going past the Statue of Liberty in a boat pretty soon. Craig and a girl named Mary Banner.

She wondered what the girl looked like. Was she a glittering blonde, a ravishing black-haired creature—or just a girl with brown hair and eyes, as she herself was?

Not that it mattered. She had captured Craig. Captured, Judy told herself, was the right word. Otherwise how could a young man, vowing eternal love to one girl, marry another in so short a time? Or—maybe he had captured Mary.

It didn't matter. The marriage was completed.

"I won't know about Mary for a long time," she said half aloud. "Not until it doesn't hurt to realize that Craig is hers. Maybe that time won't come. Maybe I'll always watch for him. Maybe he loves Mary terribly and I was a habit. Maybe—I'd better get a job!"

A newsboy stopped in front of her. "Paper, lady? Another big shot takes the gate."

"Who is it this time?" she asked, quite as though she didn't know. She wanted her mind distracted from the other problem.

"Rogers. A baron in the Street. Say—" the boy gave a whistle of surprise. "You look almost like the old man's daughter. See?" He showed Judy her own picture on page one. "Only not quite so pretty. That Rogers' dame is a looker."

"Yes, she is," agreed Judy. Her pictured face was gay, happy, unworried. Her real face was haggard and hurt and white, she knew.

"Keep the paper—it's a present because you look like the girl. She'll have to hustle for a job now."

Judy stood quietly when the vendor had gone. Well, why not get a job? Once she had wanted to, believing she was rich. And now—

She glanced at the tall buildings that stood so austerely against the afternoon sky. There were girls in the offices, girls who were earning their own livings because they had to. Brave and fearless, even when they were a little frightened in the far corner of their hearts. She would join them. She would show Ronald Birrell.

So she caught a subway train and went home. The penthouse apartment was quiet. She went into her own room and sat down at her desk. She would cable her mother that she was not coming, and take the passage money as a fund to help her live while she searched for a job. Maybe she could model—she was a perfect 14. From that, it would be just a step into designing, she hoped.

The maid had placed some letters on the silver tray. A yellow envelope topped them. A cable. She ripped it open.

"Planning winter in Egypt. Impossible have you join us. Sorry about everything."

It was signed "Edith Rolland".

So her mother didn't want her. She did not care enough to sign some maternal term to the message. Just "Edith Rolland", as though she were a person, and Judy was a person, and they never had meant anything to each other.

Well, there would be no passage money. She would tell her father, and he would loan her a little, a very little, if he had it.

But he did not have it, although he would have found it had she asked. It was after dinner that Judy intended to show him the cabled message. They were having coffee in the drawing room, for the September night had turned too cool for the terrace, when he said:

"Judy, I'm glad your mother is taking you with her this winter. Our reverses need not interfere with your gaiety. As for me—I'd finance you here, if you prefer, if I had two coins to rattle together. But the bank's empty."

He walked to the long windows that opened on the terrace, was silent for a moment, came back. His quick, brilliant smile was not for Judy, waiting hungrily for a word of affection. It was for his wife, but she did not return it. Instead Judy's stepmother shook her head.

"Bob, how did you make so many dumb mistakes?"

"I thought I was being bright. Don't worry about it. It will come out all right." Even now his eyes adored his wife.

Judy turned away her head. It wasn't fair. This stepmother had taken, taken, taken! She owed her husband sympathy and understanding, unspoken forgiveness of matters that were beyond her comprehension. But her father did not seem to mind—

Now Ronald Birrell would have been hot-headed and demanding. His wife would have to walk with him all the way. But it would be fun for her, if she loved him. . . . Silly to think about that now. Also, it would be a brave girl who could love that tempestuous attorney.

The stepmother was speaking again. Her name was Sarita. She was beautiful and much younger than her husband. Now she smiled, and Judy's tight heart expanded.

"I'm sorry I'm such a brutally frank person, Bob. I'm standing by. Don't forget."

"I won't," promised the tall man with graying hair. He seemed to be a stranger now, as Judy looked at him. Not her father, Sarita's husband. She stirred restlessly. The movement attracted the man's attention. He finished his coffee, and put down the cup.

"How soon can you sail, Judy? The Normandie pulls out day after tomorrow."

No good to tell him that her mother didn't want her. It would add to his worries. He was in such a hurry to have her leave. Under the lavender chiffon flounces of her dinner frock she heard the yellow paper of the cablegram crackling. He would not know that she had this message.

"You see, Judy, I'm taking Sarita west with me to try to recover a venture. One woman is all I can manage this winter. In the spring . . ."

"Yes, of course, in the spring," she agreed, with a forced smile.

Sarita was eyeing her speculatively. "Maybe Judy will want to marry. What about Craig?"

"Craig is married," she repeated steadily, because she had been saying the words, over and over, to herself all day.

"Married? When?"

"Last night. To Mary Banner, the radio entertainer. Craig and I never were serious. Mind if I excuse myself and go to my room? You must have lots of plans to make."

Lots of plans, and none of them would include her. But she didn't stay inside. She put on a white polo coat and went down the street to a newsstand. Maybe Craig's marriage was in the morning tabloids, already on sale.

School Child's Vision Should Be Investigated

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN PREPARING a child for the opening of school, we have emphasized in previous articles this week the importance of protection against contagious diseases.

But, of course, the conscientious parents will think of many other things in connection with the physical welfare of the child that will need to be considered when it is faced with the extra responsibilities and burdens of school life.

The eyes and the ears will be put under strain in school such as they never had in the irresponsible days of early childhood.

Pope wrote, "Explore the thought, explain the asking eye," and this might well be a motto for teachers. They must think of how much the child sees if they are to explain his behavior. One of the teacher members of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness learned that the department of psychology of one of our stat universities was giving Intelligence Quotient tests to a group of school children. He found that they had not taken any steps to investigate the vision of the children, and asked that he might do so. He found that of 300 children under investigation, 25 had vision sufficiently defective to see inaccurately the material used in the I. Q. tests. All 25 had been given low I. Q. ratings, as might be expected.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Poor Vision Limits Work

Poor vision may limit excellency in school work in many ways. Wherever possible, parents should be assured by their oculist that the child's vision is efficient before starting school work. While school hygiene workers do attempt to make an examination of the scholars' eyes, this is often done in a slipshod manner and is based entirely on whether the child can read 20/20 on a Luellen chart. Tests made under consistent standards of lighting are not attempted.

I understand there is being constructed in one of our natural history museums a hall of animal behavior where the public may see how the world looks to different animals. For instance, a dog having no color discrimination, sees everything as a pale gray.

We should think of the school child in this way, and project ourselves into his consciousness. Then we may be able to understand some of his deficiencies as a scholar.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

G. R.: "Does swimming have any effect upon a person who has had scarlet fever? I had this disease when I was seven years old; I am now 21. I have been kept from this form of exercise because of the idea that it may affect sight and hearing. Are such people more susceptible to mastoid and sinus trouble?"

Answer: These ideas are entirely erroneous. Scarlet fever, if it is going to affect the ears or eyes, does so within a week or ten days at the most, of the eruption. It does not create any predisposition to mastoid or sinus disease, except just at the time of the eruption.

World At A Glance

—By— Charles P. Stewart

'Tis an ill wind, as the old saying is, that blows nobody any good.

Comparatively few Americans have been spending vacations in Europe this Summer, very much to the disadvantage of such European business as depends largely for prosperity upon Yankee tourist trade.

Latin America, however, has been catching visitors from our side of the equator as never before.

Passport records at the state department prove this conclusively For July alone the number of these European traveling permits was more than 300,000 fewer than for the corresponding month a year ago. Latin American countries showed nothing like an offsetting gain; it will take time to educate our tourists up to a rush in a southerly direction. Still our Latin republics have done better this year than ever before. The promises to increase, too, at trend toward their hemisphere Europe's expense—at least if Europe continues on the verge of such a turmoil as threatens now.

IN WAR DAYS

What befell American visitors in Europe when the World war broke out has not yet been forgotten. Travelers' checks were no good. Tourists were stranded, no matter what their essential resources were; they were dependent upon all sorts of expedients to get them home. Natuarily no one wants to risk being caught in a similar jam today.

Besides, Europe is unpleasant under existing conditions.

Of course no tourists (only a reckless adventurer) goes to Spain. Russia is taboo except by an occasional passing aviator. There is plenty of prejudice against Nazi Germany and not much less of it against Fascist Italy. Vienna, once a highly popular resort, is steered clear of as a danger spot.

A BIG INDUSTRY

Tourist entertainment once was a big industry in Germany and Italy. Its destruction is as if steel or automobiles were to go to smash here. Nor is it alone that an industry is destroyed; these tourist-inviting nations are desperately dependent upon overseas visitors to support their foreign exchange. Otherwise their money is no good abroad.

England and France are not so sorely stricken.

Some few callers do occasionally drop in on London and Paris—but Berlin and Rome?—Oh, no! And London and Paris haven't 50 per cent of their normal quotas.

INDUCEMENTS

Latin America is beginning to horn in on this tourist trade.

It didn't use to stand a chance. At last it is starting to realize that an opportunity presents itself. And, most creditably, it is grabbing at it. It offers inducements.

It has some to offer. When it is hot weather up here is the southern continent's winter — not severe but cool enough to be comfortable. When it's freezing here it's balmy below the equator. Not so terribly calorific, either; President Roosevelt himself has just enjoyed a Summer vacation right on the line.

The tropics have been advertised as "a green hell."

Hooey! It's a nice place. It offers wonderful chances for development. And it supplements our line of production admirably. In the western hemisphere we have EVERYTHING—except kangaroos, and I'll bet we could develop kangeroos also.

WITHOUT EUROPE!

We Pan-Americans could do without Europe altogether — and without Asia and Africa and Australia.

I don't recommend it, but we COULD.

I'd like to see us get together—from Canada, including polar bears, to icebergs, off Cape Horn, with rubber and coffee and snakes and tropical timber intervening; bananas, et cetera, too.

As to historic associations, we havent all that the Old World has—but we've got the GOODS.

Install Modern Automatic GAS HEAT In Your Home

LONG hours of back breaking shoveling certainly doesn't belong in the category of modern household duties. Yet, if you would total up the time spent in tending an out-moded furnace in one winter, you'd be shocked at the many wearisome hours put in. Life is too short — home is too sweet for such household slavery.

This winter, you can remove the shackles of time-worn heating methods forever — by installing modern gas heat. No more fuss or muss. No more teeter-totter temperatures. No more hidden heating costs. The one and ONLY bill for gas heat is no more than the many expenses — fuel and incidental — resulting from old-fashioned methods. Don't spend another winter of your life working at a furnace. Let automatic gas heat take over the job.

GET A FREE HEATING SURVEY
Phone The Gas Company today for a free heating survey. This survey takes into consideration all the factors that influence the heating of your home. From them it furnishes a reliable estimate of what gas will cost you. It, also, includes an inspection of your present heating plant. No charge — no obligation for this free service.

BLUE RIBBONS CLINCH TIE IN SOFTBALL LOOP

Dairyman Gives Up Lone Bingle In Contest With Jolliers

With Pitcher Pug Fowler giving up only one hit, the Blue Ribbon dairy team, Monday evening, clinched at least a tie for the second half championship in the softball league. The unfortunate but fighting Bronzeville Jolliers fell before the dairy team 3 to 8 in five innings, darkness ending the fray.

The only bingle gleaned off Fowler was Bill Grant's single in the third inning when one run was scored. Two dairy markers came in during the fifth frame, a walk, an error and a fielder's choice providing the counters.

C. Hill pitched for the losers.

The dairy team has completed its second half schedule winning six games and losing one. The only team that can tie them is the Fenton cleaners, first half titlists, who must win from Glitt's food market this evening. Circleville Oils Thursday evening, and Eshelman Feeds next Monday evening. A defeat would eliminate the Fentons and open the way for the title playoff.

New Yorkers to Tangle With Pittsburgh Outfit

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(UP)—Bill Terry and his weary Giants clutch at the last straw in Pittsburgh today. It's do or die from now on for the two-time National league champions and the way the wind is blowing they may do their dying during the four-game series with the league-leading Pirates, opening today at Forbes field.

New York correspondents traveling with the Giants have reported already that Terry has given up all hope of winning the pennant. Oen of them quotes him as saying, "If we can win the pennant, the other clubs in the league should fold up."

Terry knows he has a bad ball club, but it's still capable of winning the pennant with a spirited drive. The Giants are 5½ games off the pace and are playing in spasms but the Pirates have flopped around like a lot of dead fish lately and can still blow the pennant if any of the other contenders show a will to win.

In the last few days the Chicago Cubs have moved up into a contending position and they may be the club which will come down the stretch to challenge Pittsburgh. As a result of yesterday's Giant loss the Cubs today were virtually tied for second place, only .001 percentage point behind the Giants.

Unless either the Pirates or Giants can make a clean sweep—an entirely unlikely possibility on the past performances of both clubs—the Cubs have a chance to gain valuable ground. But they have a tough opponent on hand in the Boston Bees, who have been playing some of the best baseball in the league the last month.

So desperate is Terry for pitchers for the Pittsburgh series that he has nominated Dick Coffman, relief hurler, to start today against the Pirates' Jim Tobin. Yesterday Terry started Harry Gumbert for the third time in six days and he got by until the seventh when he collapsed and Cincinnati pounded out five runs and went on to win, 6-3. Bucky Walters scattered seven hits and won his 11th game. The Reds collected 11 hits, with Dusty Cooke's single with the bases loaded the big blow.

Pittsburgh came out of its panic by thumping Brooklyn, 10-1, with the aid of comic Dodger pitching and fielding. The Pirates made two runs in the first inning without a hit and then proceeded to slug out 15 hits the rest of the game off Posedel and Lamaster. Johnny Rizzo hit a single and a double.

Those merciless Yankees continued destruction by walloping the St. Louis Browns, 8-4, and increasing their American league lead to 14 games, a new high. Lefty Gomez scored his 15th victory. For the second straight day the Yanks were outhit but not outscored. The Browns made 13 hits but wasted most of them until their three-run rally in the ninth. Tommy Henrich hit homer No. 19—his fifth in his last three games—to lead the Yanks' 12-hit attack.

Detroit slaughtered the Boston Red Sox, 15-1. Rudy York hit homers No. 30 and 31 and drove in six runs. Eldon Auker held the Red Sox to five hits, missing a shutout because of Joe Cronin's homer.

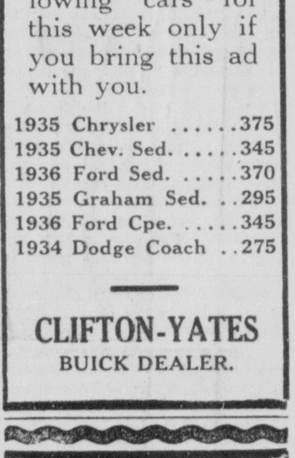

Washington beat out Cleveland, 6-4, on two less hits, the Indians making ten to the Senator's eight. Ken Chase was aided by four double plays. Al Simmons hit homer No. 18.

No other games were played.

YESTERDAY'S HERO — Cy Blanton, Pirates' screw ball expert, who pitched the league leaders to a valuable 10-1 victory over Brooklyn which increased their lead to 5½ games.

Pfoutz Lists Schedule To Be Resumed On September 6

Summer business of the truck exceeded expectations, Mr. Pfoutz said, when approximately 3,000 books were issued monthly. The average for last Winter was 8,000 monthly.

Mr. Pfoutz pointed out that all students should have their borrowers' cards when coming to the truck for books. No books will be issued unless the borrower presents his card.

The library has purchased many new books recently for both adults and children. Many of them are in the fields of science, fine arts and industrial arts. Some are on shopwork and home economics. There are also new books on photography, radio, automobiles, woodworking and music.

Librarians hope the opening of the Fall and Winter schedule will result in more persons taking advantage of the free book service offered by the travelling library. They hope to have large increases in circulation this year.

U. S. to Lose 12 Millions In Wheat Subsidy Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(UP)—Agriculture department officials estimated today that the government would lose up to $12,500,000 through its new wheat export subsidy plan.

This was revealed as the department initiated the broadest subsidy program ever undertaken by offering exporters 100,000,000 bushels of wheat for sale abroad at competitive world prices. The department will absorb all losses on the transactions.

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation has begun the purchase of wheat and flour at prevailing market prices, for resale to exporters at a price which will enable them to dispose of it abroad in competition which Canada, the Argentine and Australia.

Losses sustained by the FSCC will be made up from section 32A of the AAA act, which set aside 30 percent of custom receipts for disposal of Agricultural surpluses. The FSCC has borrowed $30,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to finance wheat purchases.

A six hour conference between agriculture officials and 20 prominent grain dealers and exporters preceded the announcement of the subsidy program. The conference was reported to have developed a plan for an intensive sales campaign abroad for American wheat.

Program Explained

As explained by Acting Secretary of Agriculture M. L. Wilson, the subsidy program would operate as follows: Exporter Jones would find a foreign buyer for 10,000 bushels of wheat at 60 cents a bushel, delivered in Liverpool. Jones would inform the FSCC that he would have to buy the wheat at 46 cents a bushel in order to pay shipping costs and make a reasonable profit. The FSCC, which had paid American farmers 65 cents a bushel, would sell it to the explorer at 46 cents and deduct the 19 cents a bushel from the customs fund.

Grain dealers who attended the conference included W. L. Richardson, New Orleans; Robert F. Staub, New York; M. R. Claser, Chicago; Frank A. Theis, Kansas City; J. M. Chilton, Minneapolis; R. B. Bowden, St. Louis; and Richard F. Uhlmann, Chicago. George H. Davis, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, also attended.

Wilson said that the United States would follow a subsidy policy similar to that adopted by the Canadian wheat board, which announced last week that it would meet "all competition" in the world wheat market in an effort to sell 250,000,000 bushels. He tacitly acknowledged the failure of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace to obtain a cooperative export agreement with Canada and other wheat exporting nations. He said the subsidy program was adopted to "meet a special situation."

Not Cooperating

"That situation," he said, "is the fact that, up to the present, the major exporting nations are not cooperating in a general program for meeting the world wheat surplus problem."

The United States is completing the harvest of its second largest wheat crop on record—956,000,000 bushels. Adding a 154,000,000-bushel carryover a supply of 1,110,000,000 bushels is available. That is 450,000,000 bushels more than normal domestic demand.

In order to remove as much of that surplus as possible, Wilson said that the FSCC would continue indefinitely purchasing wheat and flour in the domestic market for subsidized sale abroad.

SEPT. 13 NAMED AS STOCK DAY AT TROY FARM

One of the important 1938 events for Ohio livestock men is scheduled at the Miami County experiment farm, Troy, Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Members of the Wooster agricultural experiment station staff will explain at the meeting experimental work done with hogs, cattle, poultry, and sheep. Perle Jones, superintendent of the Miami Farm, will have charge of the inspection tours that begin at 10 a. m.

Crossbred hogs are a subject for argument among Ohio livestock men, and those who debate on either side of the question will want to hear W. L. Robinson present the evidence from experiments with crossbreeding. C. C. Hayden will start the afternoon program by explaining results from experiments with dairy cattle.

Poultry work will be described by D. C. Kennard, and the investigations with sheep will be reported by D. S. Bell. Paul Gerlaugh will lead the discussion on feeding beef cattle, but everyone attending this meeting is invited to take part in a general discussion to follow Mr. Gerlaugh's talk.

Miss Velma Paisley, home demonstration agent, Miami county, has charge of a program for women who do not care to hear the livestock reports. County agricultural agent O. D. Sands declares farmers from all parts of Ohio should visit Troy on Livestock Day.

CLIFTONA BEGINS WORK ON NEW MARQUEE, SIGN

The new marquee is another step in a general remodeling plan which the theatre has been carrying out during recent months.
